(My personal thoughts: A mediator (one who stands between two separated parties to bring the two parties back together) must belong fully to both parties, or he cannot serve as a mediator. Look at what 1 Timothy 2:5 says the mediator is: "the man Christ Jesus." He has to be a man, or he cannot stand where human beings stand and die a human death. Now look at what 2 Corinthians 5:19 says was true inside that death: "God was in Christ." And he has to be God, or his death is just one more man dying, providing no salvation (rescue from sin and the penalty of sin) for anyone. This is why the answer to "who is Jesus" is not a side question for scholars alone. The whole doctrine of salvation depends on it.)
